

YANN-BER TILLENON

(Political Leader of the Breton Movement)

ATTESTATION: I, Jean-Pierre Tillenon, born on December 5, 1957 in Paris 75013, bachelor, French citizen, artist, certify the veracity of the following facts to which I have been the direct witness thereof.

For many years, France has been a hypocritical totalitarian country, but as all nations of Marxist inspiration, such totalitarianism has been especially worsening since it has been ruled by a Socialist government. Current French institutions are totally enslaved under materialism. France cannot accept anything that might escape her tyrannical and corrupt control.

There is an appalling censorship of any press media, very similar to the worst former period of the Communist countries and of Nazism, yet all that with an appearance of liberalism and of humanism. It is, in fact, the plain dictatorship of mendacity and of hypocrisy. Maybe they want us to believe that systematic telephone espionage has something to do with a better health coverage....

The French nation, which has reached the very worst of her true nature with the current socialism, always endeavored to eliminate those who were not entirely convinced of the "blessing" of the mandatory, dominant standard.

The worst apex of the French cultural depredation has undoubtedly occurred in Brittany where the Breton people have been totally brain-mutilated during this century. Nowadays, the Bretons have completely lost conscience of themselves, of their language, and of their history. They are considered as heretics in the so-called universalistic French society. From such a point on, Breton alienation is complete.

They have forgotten their hygienic and medical precepts of the ancient native religion which had survived until the 19th century, to wit, the rules of a healthy and peaceful life without all our sufferings. Twenty-five centuries ago, our Druids already professed that the whole universe dwells within our own selves (of human beings). They were not afflicted with our current superficial view of human sufferings and poisonings. They taught a philosophy whose effects brought a bewildering balance of perfect health, physically, affectively, mentally and spiritually.

Philip Savage is one of the ultimate keepers of such prodigious and ancient Lore who conflicts so highly with French socialist, rationalist and cartesianist beliefs.

Philip Savage cannot be accepted by the Medical (Marxist) Board that has been created on October 7, 1940 by the Nazis themselves, by Petain (the leader of the French Fascists) and under the aegis of Dr. Alexis Carrel, the father of racial eugenics.... The very same political government to which belonged (until 1943) the current leader of the French Socialist, Francois Mitterand himself,' who then got a materialist vision of a "robotized" human being reshaped by chemical industry. A like tradition has been perpetuated in France until today. In such a profit-based official medicine, there is no room at all for any alternative. They just endeavor to force into exile any traditional therapist such as Philip Savage.

If ever they would catch him in France, there is no doubt that they should jail him or kill him. He represents such a danger for the official history, for the official art, for the official philosophy and the official medicine, which do not want to acknowledge the self-healing possibilities of human physiology under spiritual induction and without external agents or chemicals as proclaimed by Philip Savage.

I hereby grant him such an attestation for him to be protected by the United States of America against all persecutions of the French Socialist government.

I am in no way related to him or under his professional influence.

I am perfectly aware that any misstatement of mine might bring penal charges against myself.
