

12 Journal Articles

One of the thousands of typical journal articles highlighting the impact of Philip Savage on the European psyche.

Philip Savage: "Only Super-Healer or True Miracle-Worker?"

by Bernard Dubant

SCIENCE AND MAGIC, 16:1991

(The views and opinions of Bernard Dubant on Philip Savage and his spiritual organization reflect only the personal interpretation of the author. Bernard Dubant is an expert on American Indian civilization and his book "Crazy Horse, Shaman and Warrior" has been a best seller in Europe. It is doubtful that Philip Savage would share some of Bernard Dubant's shamanistic analyses of himself. Furthermore, although his immoderate enthusiasm is understandable, Dubant's excessive extolling of Philip Savage's cosmic mission would most likely make him extremely uncomfortable.)

There is no doubt that Philip Savage is one of the most extraordinary, one of the most puzzling, one of the most fascinating and one of the most attractive persons of our times. He is the Medicine Man, the environmentalist, the apostle of the supernatural, the most well-known star of (European) television, as well as the miracle-maker himself. Some of us see him as the paragon of a "doer"... Most of us consider him a genius. Be that as it may, with his unquestionable charisma, one can only love or hate such an exceptional individual — a speaker, a maker, and a Healer — A Healer who heals... for real!

He is the descendant of an immemorial lineage of Healers and Celtic Holy Men. Indian blood also runs in his veins since some of his ancestors allied their blood with the Algonquins in Canada before they came back to their country. One of his unfortunate ancestresses has been burned alive at the stake. His mother and grandmother still Heal the people in the very core of their Celtic Country. As a matter of fact, it is his very great-grandmother who ordained him in the extremely demanding ethics of his sacred mission and who made him the heir of her secret Art.

But, Philip Savage does much more than heal. Instead of using the corrupt concept that reminds us of some mesmerizer or would-be healer, it would be much more accurate to see him as a "Shaman." In any case, let us try to shed some light on such a bewildering person and his unique philosophy.

In his perspective, modern men represent the corrupt offspring of Prometheus, the one who sneaked away for them the divine knowledge. Then they turned into mutants and egocentric monsters by betraying their original mission toward Nature and became, instead, Nature's tormentors and destroyers. Such modern human mutants are the very men of The Fall, those who have been shamefully dismissed from their primordial celestial condition. With such a perspective, Philip Savage holds the last native people as the only true human beings from before the Fall. As the Eagle has remained an Eagle and as the Wolf has remained a Wolf, they have preserved their pristineness and their fundamental essence. For him, natural Men still are the very human beings of the beginning, the surviving archetypes of the primal Divine Creation.

However, although he is at root both an "Animal Healer" and a "polytechnic Holy man," Philip Savage has never challenged the ultimate validity of Science, of the true Science. He only blames that putative science which desecrates, tyrannizes, and destroys. While he has, indeed, become a Paleontologist (hence his nickname of "fossil"), it was to demonstrate scientifically the evidence of modern man's extreme degeneration. Far from being in progression, human beings are in total decay. They mutilate themselves and let their original senses and innate powers disappear into almost complete annihilation, while they resort more and more to various prostheses for their own survival.

On account of his inner nature and his own specific powers — absolutely different from those of our current humanity — Philip Savage must be viewed as the guardian of the Sacred Flame of the Primordial Man against his latter-day overcivilized avatar. His Wisdom has nothing at all in common with the scattered and shallow would-be knowledge of today: It forms a comprehensive and innate sagesness that relates to a sacred ancestral Legacy. Such a Lore has actually been directly channeled unto him by innumerable generations of peers.

THE HEALER

Philip Savage considers that our individual diseases only originate out of a disruption of Divine Natural Order. Therefore, his mission of Healer-Demiurge implies not only to cure our body but also to reintegrate sick people into their primordial interconnectiveness. In this sense, more than a healer, Philip Savage must be envisioned as the Intercessor and the Thanaturgist. The one who works true miracles. The Sacred Advocate who intercedes on behalf of all Men who have proven to be true to Nature and free from overcivilized decadence! Unfortunately, we, modern men, are but the slaves of our artificial wants and unquenchable thirsts. We are the prisoners of our own stress and our own sense of loss. We are far from showing all those primordial virtues of genuine, wild and tribal Humanity, the very Men whom Philip Savage sees as his own People!

On the contrary, when they gloatingly ruin the environment, modern men are like those insane psychotics who wallow in self-mutilation! They are the sick modern avatars of our Promethean and technocratic civilization whose totalitarian and aggressive scientific armies are invading the whole world like a nightmarish hydra and a pestilential invasion. They already corrupt our Earth. Soon they will even export their sickness to outerspace. Modern man has definitely lost his senses. He has forgotten his primordial nature and his divine duties as well!

From a purely ecological perspective, Philip Savage would not disapprove of those, like Cioran the philosopher, who sadly envisioned the termination of such a threat when he said: "Man is going to disappear, this was hitherto my firm conviction. Now, I have changed my opinion: He must disappear."

Philip Savage should also support Tahca Uste, the famous Indian Medicine Man, who declared: "All living beings come to existence with significance. Even an Ant knows what its destiny means. It may not know it with its brain, but it knows it in one way or another. Only human beings do not know any longer why they exist. They have forgotten the secret wisdom of their inner body, of their own senses and of their own dreams. They are incapable of utilizing the very sagemess which has been innately provided by the Great Spirit. They are not even aware thereof. Therefore, with their blindness they stumble along the dead alley of nowhere that will bring them forth to the abyss."

... From the very beginning of his downfall, to attempt to counter his own existential deficiencies, man only knows how to invent new clutches and prostheses. Now that he has become a sick and irresponsible predator, he mutilates and destroys everything, everywhere. He calls his own depredations "progress" or "humanization" when they are only systems of annihilation. Accordingly, in answer to this humanist who once proclaimed that "Nothing of what is human is alien to me," Philip Savage would probably reply that: "Nothing of what is alive is alien to me! Thus, since he has become the fiendish enemy of all living beings, modern Man has now become totally alien to me."

... Instead of being one of those decadent and corrupted man, he has been anointed by the Divine Power to intercede. Philip Savage epitomizes the primordial Man with his clannish ancestral memory and gnosis of event-maker.

THE INTERCESSOR

Philip Savage must know he has been ordained by God as a Missionary. It is no secret that he is like a true Crusader in war, indeed in Holy War, against anything that would represent a threat against the Divine Natural Order. Like a Knight clad in his spiritual coat-of-mail, he totally transcends his role of Healer to become the Sacred Warrior and Soldier Intercessor.... Like an Interface between cosmic divine forces and the Earth, rather than simply heal Men or animals from their cancer, his ultimate mission is to Heal Nature in its sacredness from the cancer of our corrupt civilization!

It was for the sake of accomplishing such a Mission that Philip Savage has sacrificed himself by accepting to become the "star" of all kinds of press media, in spite of his extreme repulsion for any type of compromise with human predation and pollution. However, since such a Crusade must get the participation of everyone in order to succeed, he, thus, sought the synergistic fusion of whoever could help him help counter the appalling destruction of Life. Philip Savage is not only the healer of our body, he must also be the Healer of our own spirituality! What is at work through him is the Original Energy, the Breath of Creation. Who knows whether he is the thanaturgist processing with such Energy or whether the Cosmic Energy, itself, uses him as a conduit for its own purposes?

When he celebrates his healing ceremony, is Philip Savage still a human being?

What we know is that he does not transcend the Laws of Nature. On the contrary, he accomplishes them. By doing so he reestablishes the healee in his own physical and physiological harmony. He brings him back to his lost primordial balance. For Philip Savage, diseases only relate to our Entropy: Our organic disorder and decay in constant degeneration. As Master of those primordial powers of the ancient pristine Men faithful to Divine Natural Order, the Thanaturgist reverses the entropic spiral. He reconstitutes the former harmony of the healee. He makes him whole once again. Philip Savage has been credited with more than one hundred thousand animal healings and more than thirty thousand human healings. Furthermore, these bewildering cures have been successful in the domain of the most "incurable" and dreadful diseases such as Multiple Sclerosis, Cancer and Aids!

But he does not really heal with Powers of his own. His freewill is not even involved. Something through him cleanses the sufferings and washes the sins. When he processes he is no longer in control. All the healings of animals and babies rule out any kind of placebo explanation. There is no psychosuggestive influence. Through him God Himself Heals whomever he deems worth being spared!

TESTIMONIES

After his legs had started violently to hurt, a 21-year-old shepherd soon became paralyzed, and then fell rapidly into a deep coma. The doctors diagnosed Encephalitis and in spite of their medical cares, the young patient remained over a week in the same comatose condition. After the parents applied for his help, while the patient was entering his 15th day of coma, and without even meeting him, Philip Savage Interceded in behalf of the patient. Three days later, the young shepherd came out of his coma and returned to a normal life.

Mrs. L., a poor farmer in Philip Savage's neighboring territory, was very alarmed by the sudden collapse of her best cow, who could no longer eat or move. After the veterinarian examined the animal, he had no choice but to declare the animal incurable and prepare, immediately, to put the cow out of its misery. The unfortunate farmer was completely upset. She needed and loved her cow so much that she decided to call another veterinarian, who only confirmed the fatal diagnosis. He also advised her to put the animal to sleep. Then suddenly she remembered hearing people talk of Philip Savage in the most enthusiastic way. She decided to call him. He told her to come right away. She brought with her some of the hairs of the cow. After Philip Savage gave her the assurance that everything would return to normal the next day, she went back home. The day after, the cow was out of trouble and completely healthy, as if nothing had ever happened.

Afterwards, Philip Savage cured many other animals of Mrs. L. He even intervened to rescue another cow who couldn't calve. The veterinarian wanted to do a C-section, but Mrs. L. was too poor for such a costly operation. "I decided then to call Philip Savage," says Mrs. L, "and even without getting hairs from the cow, he established what he called a 'connection' with the animal.... And my cow gave birth without any problem." Small wonder then, in the wake of such amazing rescues, Philip Savage became the healer of the whole family. After he cured Mrs. L from excruciating sciatic pains, he undertook to solve the "incurable" sickness of her own son, who had been born mentally retarded with multiple and extreme disabilities *in his psycho-motricity. He was also prone to terrible fits of violence and was deemed a lost cause by all the doctors. So much so that Mrs. L had been advised to put him, forever, into psychiatric confinement. After Philip Savage started to treat the young boy, notwithstanding their extreme bewilderment, the doctors could do nothing but confirm his complete and miraculous recovery. Later on, Philip Savage healed the 86-year-old farmer's mother who wasn't even able to move. Not only is she now walking, but she also underwent a mind-boggling process of total rejuvenation. So many miracles in the field of human and animal health!

*Mr. and Mrs. B. also have many good reasons to praise the Intercession of Philip Savage. They were the happy owners of "Alpha," a wonderful 5-year-old German shepherd. This dog was the very famous rescue dog who saved many human lives and was the star of the local media. Unfortunately in March 1990, after he had lost all his hair, the dog was moving very fast toward a fatal conclusion. All the treatments from the veterinarian were unable to slow down the collapse. He was then turning blind and had already lost more than 22 pounds. Besides the diagnosis of irreversible blindness, further examinations revealed an invading growth which was disrupting all normal functioning of the thyroid gland. Alpha was sentenced to death without any hope.... Everyone was totally desperate to save the animal hero! Then the dog's owners happened to see Philip Savage on TV and decided to try to find him. They sent him a photograph of Alpha and immediately after he had become acquainted with the issue, Philip Savage started to heal the animal from a distance... The dog was, then, miraculously cured!

However, Philip Savage's most phenomenal achievement is the treatment of a baby diagnosed with Cystic Fibrosis while still in the womb of his mother.... While she *was in the sixth month of pregnancy and after undergoing a routine checkup, Mrs. Valerie A. learned that her child seemed to be affected by some problems in the intestinal area. Investigating further, the doctors discovered that the mother herself was carrying the appalling 508 genetic mutation, the very gene that causes Cystic Fibrosis. When the doctors tested the baby, they discovered that he too was afflicted by the same genetic anomaly. Since the mother knew Philip Savage's reputation, she decided to consult him. As soon as he had been made aware of the case, Philip Savage treated immediately the mother and the baby still in the fetal stage. When the child was born, to the utter bewilderment of the surgeon, what remained was merely an intestinal occlusion which was also healed without difficulty. Then the doctors immediately conducted a new genetic investigation, only to discover that: Not only had the hereditary anomaly vanished from the baby's genetic code, but it was also corrected within the mother herself.

We could, in fact, show here thousands and thousands of similar evidence that demonstrates the supreme effectiveness of Philip Savage as a Thanaturgist.

Let us, however, conclude with the healing of Mrs. G., who before being afflicted with a terrible disease in February 1990, was a young 33-year-old mother and professional athlete. Just after she had to undergo the removal of a wisdom tooth, she became unable to speak and hardly able to eat. Then her arms became paralyzed to the point where she was totally unable to do anything in her home by herself. She could no longer write and soon she began to experience very serious respiratory troubles. In spite of all kinds of examinations, the doctors could not come up with any valid diagnosis and the unfortunate patient was sent from one hospital to another. She was unsuccessful with her examinations by the best medical specialists, until one of the most reputed of them agreed to *tell her that she had been stricken with Amiotropic Lateral Sclerosis, an extremely rare and fatal disease for which there was no treatment and nothing that doctors could do.... The specialist told her she would be entirely paralyzed within two years. But after seeing Philip Savage on TV, Mrs. G. realized that everything wasn't lost yet. She called Philip Savage, who immediately began to treat her. After she had first experienced an indescribable sensation of heat, she fell into some kind of extremely strange apathy. She even lost consciousness and experienced powerful respiratory side-effects. But the next morning, she was totally back to life. And month after month, her health condition kept improving until she was eventually completely healed.

THE HOLY MAN

Between the intercedee and the Intercessor there is, of course, an unbridgeable gap, especially from an ethical and ontological perspective. Somehow, Philip Savage processes directly and exclusively under the control of God Himself. His mission is altruistic, even indeed, totally sacrificial. His Intercession does not relate to his own volition nor to his own ethical values. The Divine Force acts through him, pure and simple. He is only the instrument of God. Therefore, when a miracle has been accomplished, Philip Savage cannot even explain what has truly happened. The only thing he knows is that It Happened.

Some of those who consult him apply for his processing on behalf of other people, to rescue an animal or other generous purpose. But many who solicit his gift are only motivated by revolting impulses of extreme selfishness. Their materialistic greed only matches their ethical unworthiness and they don't really deserve Philip Savage's Intercessory Sacrifice. For those people, a compensation is required. Since Philip Savage only Heals by God and for God, what belongs to God must go back to God! Any sacred or magical ritual in all spiritual traditions requires a sacrifice in return. This is a true universal principle. And in good Justice, such sacrificial compensation ought to overcome and transcend all the basic egocentric impulses.... These very causes of individual diseases for which Philip Savage is solicited, only echo the morbid condition of our planetary Organism: Earth Mother. Consequently, in exchange for the mercy of God which they seek through His Intercessor, the supplicants must give to God a proportionate and substantial compensation. Since God is Life, their donations have to go back to Nature, regarded as sacred by Philip Savage, through him but not for him! This is the way by which the Intercessor recycles and redistributes to God all donations he receives on the occasions of what forms his own religious practice.

PHILIP SAVAGE, THE "ALTRUISTIC MISANTHROPIST"

The fact that the mission of Philip Savage is exclusively altruistic and sacrificial does not make him a philanthropist in the usual sense of the term. In fact, on account of his crusade against the human cancer that endangers all Living Things, he could be viewed, indeed, as a diehard misanthropist. He knows that between God and Caesar man always makes the wrong choice.

Man is siding with Prometheus (Lucifer), the thief and usurper of Divine Light, whose depredations have turned our Earth into the planet of the apes, who are now only despicable profanators and pathetic puppets whose only glory is to murder the Wolves, the Bears, the Eagles, the Indians, the Aborigines, the Forests and the Mountains.

As a matter of fact, all of his miraculous healings represent derogatory indulgences as to Divine Justice. Therefore, it is only fair that they help Nature bloom again,

Sacred Nature whom all the malignant subhumans of the "survival of the misfittest" have so cruelly defiled

Hence, the creation of Philip Savage's own Organization: Doomsday - Judgment of God (so termed with Divine Justice and Natural Retribution in mind).

Since Philip Savage's commitment is projected entirely toward protecting and serving the Divine Natural Order, all the donations sent to his Organization are redistributed to his "Green Charity," to preserve and save all living things from depredation. Such a crusade, entirely dedicated to rescuing Nature by resorting to his unique Gift of working miracles, is Philip Savage's mission on Earth, a divinely inspired mission.

DOOMSDAY - JUDGMENT OF GOD

The name of this organization makes perfect sense. Back in the Middle Ages, the "Ordeal/Urteil," also known as the "Judgment of God," represented a primal and instinctive form of Justice whose purpose was to establish the innocence or guilt of someone by incontrovertible means. It was the proof before God and by God Himself; the ultimate proof of the ultimate truth!

The goals of Philip Savage's Organization are multiple, but their common denominator is to protect Nature against its destroyer: The pseudo-human of our technological civilization, the urban-man, contemptor of Life! There is no longer any natural sanctuary that has not been contaminated by such a cancer.

All the more reason for this Organization to support all the people who still dare to fight for protecting our Mother Earth and her Wildlife, Animals, Plants and Minerals, all those living things who are now disappearing to the point of quasi-annihilation. Philip Savage's organization forms the last shield of the last natural Man, the few unfortunate survivors of the former tribal humanity and those of us who still show religious respect for the Divine Natural Order and do not hesitate to put their life on the line to do so.

Doomsday - Judgment of God is meant to serve and protect all people who are persecuted, hunted down and locked up by force in the corrals of our corrupt civilization. The organization unconditionally defends what is left of those surviving Lore and Traditions against the totalitarian holocaust to come.

For instance, Philip Savage's Organization supports the Mohawk People in Canada (one of the six Iroquois Nations) whose ancestral and sacred graveyard has been threatened to be destroyed and transformed into despicable "golf links." ... Similarly, in the Pine Ridge (South Dakota) Indian reservation, the Organization financed an "Indian school" meant to counter Native acculturation: In this way, Philip Savage honors the Sioux People and their Heroes/Martyrs such as Red Cloud and Crazy Horse.

Doomsday - Judgment of God also finances the Anti-Vivisection league which fights against animal torture: More than eight hundred million animals are tortured and murdered throughout the world in one laboratory or another. And who really cares about such unspeakable abominations? This genocide is perpetrated by sick individuals who don't even deserve the title of scientists: They who are used to making transplants of heads from apes and dogs. They who conduct what they call "experiments" of maternal love on female apes: To do so they burn alive babies in the presence of their mothers who desperately try to rescue them. Just to evaluate their maternal feelings! Little kittens are also cremated alive in microwave ovens. Apes are forced to smoke tobacco to death. Rats, rabbits and all kinds of other animals are similarly sacrificed. Philip Savage tries to help the best he can to end such sadistic tortures and purposeless experiments.

His Organization has also initiated "Green Sahel" operation in Niger (Africa) in order to fight against starvation and desertification, so that eventually the local populations may live in the modicum of dignity they deserve. Dozens of similar projects are underway as well. All of them have in common the rescuing of endangered species threatened by the hydra of all alleged humanistic sciences whose true purpose is the sheer annihilation of Life, to destroy its sublime multiplicity in favor of establishing a dead world of totalitarian standardization.

Doomsday - Judgment of God does not deal with the many human ideologies or philosophies, seeing that sooner or later, they will all collapse under their own contradictions. Their breakdown will also make technocratic man ... history! Philip Savage does not have to save and rescue such people. His mission as a Holy Man, as an Intercessor and as a Healer is not to help such destroyers succeed in their sick dreams of "concentration camp" civilization. In doing so he would contribute to further depredations against the Divine Natural Order. Instead of feeling part of it, as they should, such men only aspire to be its usurpers, its murderers, its enemies and its tormentors.

Philip Savage's mission is ultimately to rescue as many lives as he could (animal lives and human lives) but more likely animal lives! His Powers, or more correctly, the Grace of God by which he has been so assigned, emanates directly from the Transcendental and Sacred dimension. As he always emphasizes, Philip Savage feels he is only an instrument, the Instrument of the Very Cosmic Order. His duty is to fight without mercy against spiritual entropy. Doomsday - Judgment of God epitomizes some kind of Divine Immanent Justice, the Praetorian Guard of the Natural Order which its members have sworn to protect and to serve.

PHILIP SAVAGE, THE CELTIC SHAMAN

The "Archeotherapy Project" in the North-Pole (Greenland) undeniably represents the most wonderful utopia, the very synthesis and the absolute culminating point of Philip Savage and of his personal organization, Doomsday - Judgment of God. It is, over there in the sublime theater of such mythical Hyperborea, where Nature itself oversteps its own culmination, that Philip Savage, the very Celt, has returned home in Avalon. In here, Merlin keeps the Myth a Reality.

In Greenland, he is part of a true pristine nature. He is part of genuine aboriginal people, true Men of the beginning, of a Humanity who had kept alive the secrets of all things and of all energies. In such a place, Philip Savage has elected to erect his "Fortress," his "Basis." In here still live some true Men. They are parts of the most extreme and awesome Natural Balance and didn't surrender yet to our abnormal and schismatic civilization. Such an achievement of Philip Savage forms a feat of unprecedented magnitude, the perfect alchemical "Magnum Opus" by which the Nietzschean transmutation of our Tables of Values could eventually be accomplished!

In the Hyperborean Basis of Philip Savage one could at last get rid of his civilized clutches, prostheses and sicknesses. One can be brought back to his lost Natural Harmony. The elected rare people he will elect to process over there will have to become self-sufficient and hunt for their own survival. To do so they will be taught by the Wild Individuals of this True Humanity and guided on the precious path of their ultimate salvation, this being the supreme therapy, the supreme gift of Philip Savage to his suffering human brethren, the plan by which we could start to counterbalance the deepest sickness of our civilization and its most morbid ontological and behavioral entropies.