Re: Philip Savage

Dear Ms. Dillon,

Having met Philip Savage several years ago I became particularly interested his skills as they relate to children. The documentation you provided demonstrates that he has the ability to affect the health of a human body directly and at a distance. Similar skills have been demonstrated in rare individuals throughout history and in every culture.

Michael Murphy, founder of the Eselan Institute documents such skills in his book The Future of The Body, (1992). Dr. John Douillard and Deepack Chopra, M.D. document many such cases in Quantum Healing (1989). Ernest Holmes describes Savage's skills in his classic text, The Science of Mind (1938). Our friend David Bohm, Ph.D. protégé of Einstein explores the physical foundation of Philips skills in Science, Order and Creativity (1987). What used to be considered metaphysical gained new meaning with an understanding of quantum mechanics, a field Bohm helped to define. Eastern cultures have made a science of such skills as documented in Yogananda's Autobiography of a Yogi, (1946). Joseph Chilton Pearce, also a friend and colleague describes such skills in several of his well known publications, including The Magical Child, Evolutions End and The Bond of Power.

My discussions with Philip involved his interest in teaching this skill to young people, who Savage believes can easily apply this technique for their own well being and that of others. Every effort should be made to allow Philip to share his skills with young people and to demonstrate its effectiveness.

Sincerely,

Proposed Epilog: Dialogue with Philip Savage and Joseph Chilton Pearce
Radical States of Wholeness & Well-being

Philip Savage, known as Philip Gwez in his Breton Celtic nation, is an internationally renowned "spiritual healer." For over twenty-five years the healing/restorative use of the human mind, as documented by Philip, has helped thousands of human and animal subjects. His unique "processing" has been studied and proven effective in some of the best European and American universities and medical facilities, under the strictest scientific scrutiny. For example, numerous clinical examples can be cited:

"During the past year, I have personally observed a series of most impressive bio-restorations (healing), including recovery from advanced brain cancer, coronary artery disease and virulent shingles (herpes zoster). Currently I am monitoring the recovery of one of my own patients who suffers from advanced Alzheimer's disease. I have also reviewed the outcome data for a controlled randomized study in which Mr. Savage provided treatment of children who had suffered severe third degree burns. The five treated children recovered more quickly, with far less pain, scarring and skin grafting than the control group children. None of the children were aware of the special treatment they received, thereby eliminating the "placebo effect" as a possible explanation."

Dr. L. Dee Jacobsen, Ph.D., ABCN, Clinical Neuropsychologist, Integrative Medicine Research, Scripps Clinic, La Jolla, CA January 11, 2000

His abilities, explains Philip, are the result of an "uninterrupted initiatory legacy of pure and direct oral tradition that has survived many cultural and religious paradigmatic transitions." Specifically, Philip has been trained to "navigate the bio-continuum and "surf" between variable levels of reality" to provoke within groups or individuals dramatic changes in their inner or outer relationships. The nature and quality of relationship, inner and outer, defines, of course, one's state of relative health or disease.

The cause of most diseases is a dramatic, collective or individual, alienation from natural laws, from life's natural order, says Savage. Constantly working with physicians Philip's domain and the role of physicians are complementary, but absolutely different. "I deal with the pilot and the driving; physicians deal with the vehicle. I am in charge of the software; they take care of the hardware... The role of good medicine is to keep patients alive long enough for their natural-self healing abilities to take over and bring them to ultimate recovery.... Doctors may cure, but only Divine Nature can really heal."

When queried about the physical, psychological and spiritual mechanisms underlying his work, Savage describes how the science he calls Subliminal Influentiality, "assists individuals or groups in recovering their health, or the technology can be used to modify personal or group thoughts and behaviors at a distance." His unique skill helps people "reacquire their own systems of self-regeneration." In effect, he reawakens in them the discovery of their innate wholeness, through what he calls the "spiritual science of realigning people's ethos back to its most optimum and original settings."

Says Savage: "In the ancient Celtic paradigm, nothing moves in a linear fashion, but in circles and cycles. Druids, like the most advanced physicists today, didn't believe in time as a separate, intangible and distinct dimension. Instead of a sequential succession of different lives (reincarnation) they believed in a multiple, simultaneous super-existence.... One lives now, before and later without separation. What one does (not did) in the seventeenth century influences what one does (not will do) a thousand years from now.... Actually there is no such thing as one reality, but different levels of many realities, virtual realities just waiting to be activated. It is those strange shifting abilities of mine that drive some of my healees to feel as if they are in the twilight zone after a treatment. We have actually shifted together from one former pathologic reality into a harmonious non-pathological parallel reality, into another dimension in which people have never been sick.... I must merge with them [patients] until we are completely reunified, then we have to merge together with the human superconscious, the human superconscious must merge in turn with the Earth superconscious that must merge with some cosmic hyperconscious until the ultimate divine dimension is eventually activated... an undreamed of state of inner and outer balance in which people are perfectly united in their mind-body connections."

Distant healing of Shingles (Herpes Zoster):

"It was amazing. After five minutes, the pain was completely gone from my head, the itching and the pain around the rash were very much less, and the area of the rash itself was reduced. Over the next half hour I felt increasingly better. My back and shoulders, which had been hurting, had no more pain. I was comfortable and laughing and felt no need to itch at all. I am extremely grateful to Dr. Savage.... He did a local healing treatment with my daughter and a distant healing treatment for me. I am amazed at his gift".

Mary Wahlberg, January 24, 1999

Philip believes that human beings are born with much more than five senses: "When people do not acquire, at the proper moment, senses such as self-healing, geomagnetic perception, telepathic interaction, out-of-body instant traveling, and so many other senses, absolutely normal to our "super-human" ancestors, all those unsuspected abilities of ours just freeze up, most of the time never to reappear. On rare occasions they can partly come back. In such an instance, they are interpreted as paranormal when actually they should be absolutely normal in a completely developed human brain."

Proposal

My interest in Philip began four years ago. He and I met and discussed his long-standing passion to teach children his self-healing skill, which they can learn, he claims, often more easily than adults. My interest was renewed more recently while reviewing Joseph Chilton Pearce's collected publications: Crack In the Cosmic Egg, Magical Child, Bond of Power, Evolution's End and the soon to be released, The Biology of Transcendence. It is clear from these writings, spanning over thirty-five years, that Pearce has had a life-long interest in what he calls our amazing capacities and self inflicted limitations. Often what we perceive as miracles are natural and ordinary phenomena when viewed from alternative states of consciousness. The results of Philip's extraordinary abilities for bio-reintegration or "healing" are no exception.

In Magical Parent – Magical Child, The Optimum Learning Relationship, a new book by Pearce and myself, we propose that the "state" of peak performance that athletes call the Zone, that researchers call Flow and children call Play is nature's baseline for optimum learning, performance and wellness. The book describes how the changing nature of our relationships expresses, moment-by-moment, as unique states of being. States shape our identity. They limit and expand our potential. This is true for elite athletes and for infants. Understanding the primacy of states—that the state we are in each moment determines how we experience the world, what we learn from our experience, and how we relate to the world or perform—provides the key to reducing conflict, resistance, and self-imposed limitations. When the brain/body/mind is returned to its natural order, suddenly the optimum becomes easy, the miraculous flows naturally. The authors call this original state the Optimum Learning Relationship.

The book develops this premise into a new learning model for adults and children by focusing on performance (the zone) and learning (play), but does little to develop the third component, growth and wellness. As the final chapter to the book, which is expected to be very popular, we are planning an intimate dialogue involving Pearce and Savage as part of a select symposium of biologists, physicians and physicists. The goal is to explore the state-specific characteristics found in original play, flow and the Zone and extend these to include radical states of wellness and health. Excerpts from this gathering will be published as the epilog to the new book.
